

Grow Your People, Grow Your Business

Engaging the best from your people is not (just) about a survey.

Many organizations provide an annual 'employment engagement survey' - that's not enough. The survey is simply a tool that gives us information. What makes a culture of engagement is what we do with that information.

Taking a holistic approach, the PEOPLE FIRST method not only reviews your current data points, but creates an actionable strategy, as well as milestones for execution, to keep not only your people, but you as leaders accountable for the culture of engagement.

-

Clarify the goals
-

Assess current state
-

Create action plan

“

We have used the employee engagement program that Amy has developed for many years. We have seen improvements in the moral of staff as they are seeing the extensive work we are committing to this annual process. Amy's knowledge basis in employee engagement is phenomenal.

~ Kristy Wikum
President and CEO, Centrex Rehab

The Process:

